

Press Release

02OUT08

OGMA signs with French Air Force a new maintenance contract for C130 aircraft.

OGMA has been awarded a new maintenance contract for the French Air Force C-130 fleet.

This new contract as a 10-year duration and comprehends maintenance, logistical, engineering support and fleet management services.

With this contract, OGMA consolidates its position as one of the world leaders in maintenance services for C-130 aircraft.

About OGMA

With a 90 year experience, OGMA – Indústria Aeronáutica de Portugal is nowadays a company committed to supplying high quality solutions and services and an added value to the aeronautical market for maintenance and aero structures.

OGMA offers a complete portfolio of services to customer operators of military, commercial and executive aircraft, at all times trying to exceed the more challenging expectations.

The experience of the company is credited by different manufacturers and aeronautical authorities, including Embraer, Rolls-Royce, Lockheed Martin and Turbomeca. OGMA is an Aeronautical Maintenance Centre certified under FAR Part 145, EASA Part 21J (DOA) and EASA Part 21G (POA) as well as of other national and international entities. The management of the Quality is assured by AS9100, ISO 9001:2000 and AQAP2110 certifications.

The OGMA is an Incorporated Company participated with a 65% share by Airholdings SPSG (Embraer 70% and EADS 30%) and 35% by the Portuguese Government through Empordef.

With headquarters in Alverca, approximately 20Km north of Lisbon, currently employs 1.637 people.